Tax Cut Plan To Aid Small Business Most

But Leaders Oppose Reforms, Press for Curtailed Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—Small-business men would be among the greatest beneficiaries of President Kennedy's tax program, a study indicated today. Their cuts would total about $1.2 billion if the plan wins approval.

Small-business spokesmen were among the gentlest critics of the tax proposals in House Ways and Means Committee hearings on the tax bill last week. But, in language exactly like that of the big-business witnesses, they:

1. Urged curtailed federal spending to offset the revenue loss; and

2. Opposed many of the tax reforms by which Kennedy hopes to cushion the loss—including even some changes which were designed expressly to help small firms.

The small-business witnesses, however, left the net impression that they want tax reduction badly and would be pleased to take the Kennedy plan—with several reservations.

"We are well aware that probably the greatest benefit flowing from the proposed reduction in rates would accrue to the small business community," said John A. Gosnell, general counsel of the National Small Business Association.

Although the Treasury has said that the Kennedy tax package is stuffed with special bonuses for small businesses, the department never has added up the tax savings which would accrue to the several types of firms affected—sole proprietors, partnerships and small corporations.

Data from the Small Business Administration indicates, however, that these groups would save roughly $1.2 billion under the individual income and business tax changes—a surprisingly large figure, since it is equivalent to nearly half the proposed $2.6 billion reduction in corporation rates.

The savings would go to these groups:

—About $233 million, by Treasury estimate, to the 475,000 corporations having earnings of $25,000 a year or less. This would result from cutting the normal corporation tax rate from 30 to 22 per cent.

—Another $200 million, as indicated by SBA figures, to firms classified by that agency as small businesses but having profits above $25,000. This would result from the drop in the total corporation tax rate from 52 per cent to 47 per cent.

—About $800 million for unincorporated small business owners and partnerships. This is the estimated effect of the individual income tax cuts on smaller operators, excluding most professional groups and individuals engaged in farming, fishing and forestry.

7 Highway Dept. Employees Laid Off

Seven employees of the Ohio Highway Department in Columbiana County have been laid off effective today, according to the Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

Ed Elgin, administrative assistant to Earl Nelson, deputy director for Division 11, said no replacements have been named. He also pointed out all of the men will not be replaced.

Laid off were Merle Esterly, who was foreman at Unity, Joseph Fraser, Chester H. Green, Edward J. Landsberger, George G. Thompson, Gabriel Wago and Joseph Wessel.

James Deluce of Salem, former county superintendent, has been retained as a labor foreman.

Motorist Is Fined $150 For Intoxication

Edward Detimore, 58, of 1253 Mound St. was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail Sunday after Mayor Dean B. Crammer found him guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Detimore was cited by city police Saturday at 7 p.m. on Newgarden Ave.

COUNCIL TO MEET

Salem's annual appropriation ordinance is expected to be introduced during Tuesday's regular City Council meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m. in Council Chambers of City Hall.

Salem's Easter Seal Girl

Pretty nine-year-old Mercedes Jennings is Salem's Easter Seal girl for the fund campaign which began today, sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Mercedes, pictured above with Mrs. Augusta Ibele of the Salem Home Nursing Service, is able to walk with the aid of crutch saw-horses. A cerebral palsy victim, she eventually will be able to use regular crutches and some day, perhaps, be able to walk unaided. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jennings of Newgarden Ave.

Mercedes, like a number of other crippled children in the area, attends special school classes in Youngstown where the Salem Rotarians aid the Youngstown club in its treatment and care of these youngsters. In all, the local club has 24 crippled children under its "wing."

The club's sale of Easter Seals helps raise funds for this work, points out Campaign Chairman Bruce Gordon. Checks may be sent to C. H. Musser, fund treasurer, at the First National Bank.

Assisting Gordon on the committee are Robert Barr, Gary Greenstein, George Wyer, Jack Harroff, James Gibbs, Rev. William Longworth and Dr. Ralph Starbuck.

Nearly 500 At Work Here Now

Mullins Employees OK New Contract

Members of the United Steelworkers Local 1538, representing factory employees of the Mullins Manufacturing Corporation, which is now centralized here, have ratified a new contract which will take effect April 1 and remain in force until Nov. 30, 1965.

Announcement of the contract agreement was made jointly today by H. H. Clarkson, manager of industrial relations for Mullins, and E. J. Hilland, subdistrict director of the Steelworkers.

Nearly 500 hourly employees are affected.

The contract calls for increases in supplemental unemployment benefits, a new supplemental vacation savings plan, liberalization of pension benefits, longer vacations for certain groups of employees and improvements in the company's hospital and medical program.

These changes generally fit the pattern established in the steel industry and principal steel fabricating plants in 1962.

Significant changes were also made in the area of seniority application, hours of work and overtime rate application, the officials said.

They added that an important aspect of the recently-completed negotiations involves the creation of a joint management - employee productivity planning committee for the purpose of studying and developing new and better ways to increase productivity and seek solution to other problems which may be referred to the committee from time to time.

The new agreement is to be in effect until Nov. 30, 1965, subject to reopening negotiations on wages, pensions and insurance 90 days prior to Nov. 1, 1964.

Since last September, the company and the union have been operating under an agreement which was extended beyond its normal expiration date pending final arrangements for closing Mullins' Warren plant and the many problems associated with the transfer of work from Warren to Salem.

It is expected that the number of hourly employees at the Salem plant will exceed 500 by May 1, Clarkson said.

Freed Cuba Prisoners Claim Missiles Tested

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two American women, the first of more than 20 American prisoners expected to be freed from Cuban jails within six weeks, claim that while in prison they heard Russians testing missiles.

"I don't think they could be small ones," one woman said. "They shook the prison bars in our hands."

The women were released unexpectedly Sunday, "with no strings attached," according to James Donovan, the New York lawyer who negotiated their freedom.

Donovan said the other native-born Americans will be released when delivery of the $53-million Bay of Pigs prisoner ransom was completed. That should take about six weeks, he said.

Donovan also said Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro had agreed to free nine skin divers arrested six weeks ago if the New York attorney could prove them innocent of counterrevolutionary activity.

One of the women, who spent more than two years in Cuban jails, said the Soviets are testing missiles at an underground rock quarry six miles from Guanajay Prison, 15 miles from Havana. That is one of the sites where the Soviets installed intermediate range missiles before last October's Cuban crisis.

Geraldine Shamma, a native of Boston, said the tests were conducted every three or four days and were powerful enough to shake the bars of the prison. Mrs.

Joint Session Set for Rhode's State Message

Ohio's Financial Situation To Be Revealed Tonight

COLUMBUS, Oio (AP)—Ohioans and their lawmakers will get the important news tonight—where the state stands financially and what it must do to get even.

This is the day legislators have been awaiting for more than two months because many of their hopes and plans will rise or fall on the state of the state's finances.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, Ohio's new chief executive, will deliver a combination state-of-the-state and budget message at a night joint session of the two houses. The House will convene at 7:30

Proposal Would End Ohio's Death Penalty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposal to amend Ohio's constitution to outlaw the death penalty will be submitted in the House of Representatives tonight after Gov. James A. Rhodes gives his budget address.

State Rep. Edmund G. James, R-oble, says he will submit a proposed amendment making life imprisonment the maximum penalty in Ohio.

If the legislature approves the proposal, the question would go to a statewide vote.

and the Senate at 7:45 to be ready for the message at 8 p.m.

Advance word was that the message will be extremely brief in contrast to a 44-page budget message presented by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle two years ago.

State money—or the lack of it—has been the prime issue in the Capitol for more than four years. Republicans have been saying the last few months that Ohio is more than $80 million in the red because of fiscal policies of the DiSalle administration. Democrats scoff at those claims and insist Republicans are trying to paint the money picture darker than it really is.

Everyone expects Rhodes and his finance director, Richard L. Krabach, will come up with a balanced budget based on anticipated revenue from present taxes.

It also is expected the Rhodes budget will call for about $70 million more in state spending than the $2,030,255,354 appropriated to run the state for the two-year bookkeeping period which ends June 30.

The added money would come from added revenues resulting from the normal growth of the state's economy.

The extra money largely will be soaked up by the state subsidy for public schools—about $43 million more for the next two years than for the present budget period. State-supported universities also are due for an increase in their appropriations.

It is assumed that some state departments will be allotted less money. Where those slashes will be made is a well-kept secret.

Bills to continue Ohio's road-building program at a $300-million-a-year clip and support the Highway Safety Department for the next two years already have passed the House and are under study by the Senate Finance Committee. Together, they total about $767 million.

Aside from the all-important

Overpass Parley Planned Thursday

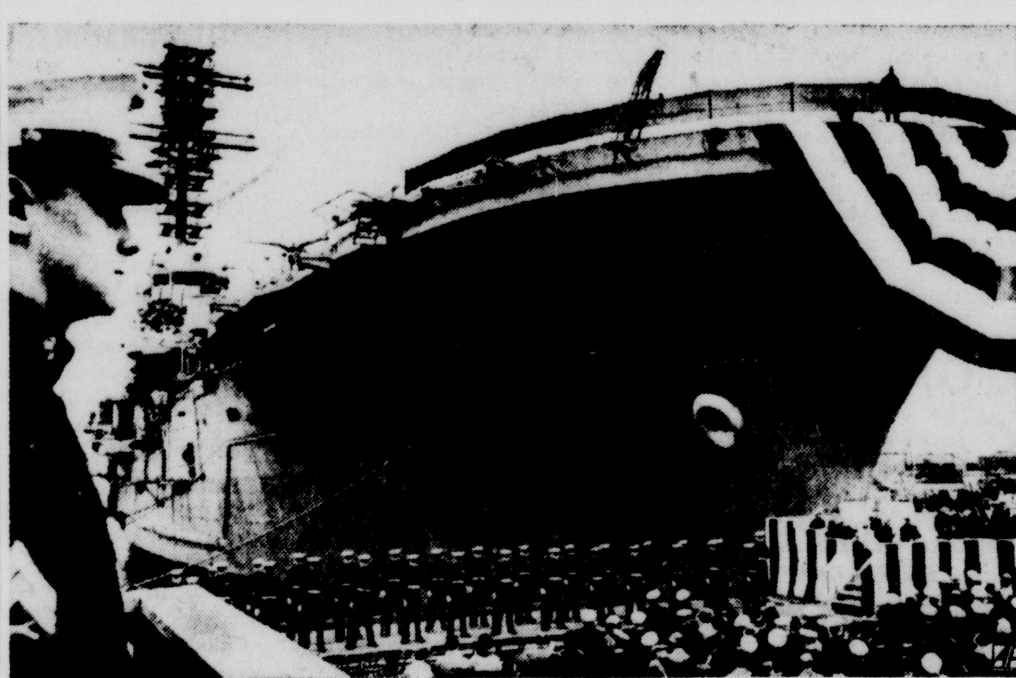

The pre-construction conference on the W. State St. overpass, delayed last week when the Pennsylvania Railroad representative "was unable to be present," has been scheduled for Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Division 11 headquarters of the Ohio Highway Department in New Philadelphia.

Mayor Dean B. Crammer, City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff Jr., Service Director James Feiler and Utilities Superintendent William Thompson will attend the conference to set up a work schedule on the overpass.

The mayor said the $1,185,230 project will be started soon by the A. P. O'Horo Co. of Youngstown.

The expected date for completion is about 16 months from now. While work is in progress, traffic will detour by way of W. Pershing St.

74 Firms To Get Safety Awards

A total of 74 companies will be given plaques for various phases of improvement in industrial safety and the elimination of accidents when the 13th annual Safety Awards banquet is held April 3 at St. Paul School.

Dr. Sidney M. Berkowitz, rabbi of Congregation Rodef Shalom of Youngstown, will be present to pay tribute to the winners.

The main speaker will be Edward McFaul of Chicago, educator and lecturer. More than 400 persons are expected to attend.

The program is in charge of Michael Schuller, Mullins Manufacturing Corp. personnel director and chairman of the Columbiana County Industrial Safety Committee, which sponsors the dinner.

Five firms will receive triple awards — the highest honor that can be attained during the regular campaign each year.

The recipients of these awards had the lowest accident frequency in the group, made an improvement of 10 per cent or more over the previous year, and went through the entire year without having a lost time injury case.

The recipients are: Pittsburgh Chair Company, East Palestine; L. W. Nash Company, East Palestine; Kaiser Refractories, Columbiana; The East Liverpool Brick and Bricker Construction Company, Salem.

Double awards, one for the lowest accident frequency in the group and the other for going through the entire year without a lost time injury will be received by: Crucible Steel Company, National Drawn Works, East Liverpool; Economy Manufacturing Company, East Liverpool; Production Foundry Company, Columbiana; The Harrold Tool Company, Columbiana; Woodbine Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company, East Liverpool; Ohio Bell Telephone Company, East Liverpool; Central Clinic and Hospital, Salem.

Columbiana Man Slightly Hurt In Crash

The most beautiful weekend for motoring in many months wooed thousands of drivers onto district highways and few traffic accidents marred the scene.

A Columbiana area man was slightly injured Sunday at 2:10 p. m. when his auto collided with the rear of another driven by Patrick Holmes of Youngstown.

The Canfield post of the State Highway Patrol said Rolla E. Simon, 79, of RD 2, Columbiana, suffered a lacerated lower lip and left wrist but did not require treatment.

Simon struck the rear of the Youngstown car in Boardman Township at the intersection of Route 164 and Afton Ave. He was cited for driving without the assured clear distance.

United School Fair Attracts 2,000

Superior ratings were won by 123 students in the four consolidated county systems of Columbiana County at the 6th annual science fair held Friday and Saturday at United School.

Executive head Chester Brautigam said about 2,000 persons attended the event which received highly favorable comment from visiting educators from Youngstown University and Mount Union College.

Besides United, students from Beaver Local, Fairfield - Waterford Local and Southern Local systems competed in the fair which featured 440 projects.

All projects, in addition to those marked superior, were rated either excellent, good or satisfactory, with results sent directly to the students' schools.

Brautigam welcomed visitors at the Saturday afternoon session at which Robert Shreve, science supervisor of Youngstown schools, was guest speaker.

Awards were presented by H. Millard Simonton, United science teacher, and Donald Brunner, United math and science teacher. Frank G. Solak, United principal, presented remarks.

The following got superior ratings:

JFK Urges Cuba Problem Be Deferred

Central America Chiefs Seek United Check on Castro

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—President Kennedy sits down today with the chiefs of five Central American republics and Panama to discuss how the United States can help them promote economic union.

Some of the Latin American presidents indicated they also wanted to plan steps to check the spread of communism from Fidel Castro's Cuba, but informants said Kennedy sent a message asking that the conferees avoid consideration of joint measures against Castro at this time.

Kennedy reportedly asked that the three-day conference concentrate on such problems as economic integration of the Central American states.

President Francisco J. Orlich of Costa Rica has stressed that a prime issue is Central America's integration into a common market of Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. They hope that Panama will join eventually.

The Central American leaders hope to get moral support and financial aid from the United States under Kennedy's Alliance for Progress. They were expected to give Kennedy a list of economic measures they consider most urgent. The primarily agrarian states have been hit hard by drops in world prices for coffee and other commodities.

The five visiting presidents held a three-hour conference with Orlich Sunday. No formal statement was issued, but President Ramon Villeda Morales of Honduras said they discussed only economic matters.

"There was absolute agreement among all the presidents," he said.

It appeared doubtful that Kennedy would be able to sidestep the Cuban problem altogether.

The president-elect of Nicaragua, Rene Schick, told a news conference that the Cuban issue should be settled as soon as possible.

Skin Rash On N. Waterford Pupils Studied

A puzzling skin rash afflicted about 25 children last week at New Waterford School, Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, reports.

The Columbiana County Health Department called in an epidemiologist from the Ohio Department of Health to assist in diagnosing the ailment.

The rash also has broken out among children in Stark and Summit counties, Dr. Palmer said.

Afflicted children do not become very ill and there are no serious complications, he said.

The Ohio Department of Health believes the skin eruption is caused by a virus.

The rash is of variable character, sometimes resembling measles, sometimes scarlet fever, and sometimes a mixture of both. It is often accompanied by high or moderate fever. If fever is present, children should be examined by the family physician and kept home from school.

This is a communicable disease and must be reported to the local health departments, Dr. Palmer said.

2 'Abscesses' Being Studied By 'Surgeons' In Costa Rica

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's conference today in Costa Rica with six Latin American presidents is like a meeting of surgeons to consider a couple of abscesses: communism and economics.

Since neither can be lanced in a minute, and the treatment of both takes a long time, any announcement on what the seven presidents agree to can hardly be spectacular.

AP News Analysis

While Fidel Castro at the moment is the most painful reminder that communism is a threat to Latin America, it was a threat before he muscled his way into Cuba.

It will remain one so long as the Communists have any grounds for promising the millions of ignorant and poverty-stricken people of Latin America that they can provide a better life than the one they've had to endure.

The men meeting with Kennedy are the presidents of five Central American republics—Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador—and Panama, which considers itself part of South America.

Kennedy had been under pressure at home to extinguish Castro in a hurry since it is an American embarrassment to have him in business at all in this hemisphere although he is no immediate military threat.

Here in Washington Sunday the Costa Rican ambassador, Gonzalo J. Facio, who is also chairman of the Organization of American States, predicted the seven presidents would agree on exterminating Castroism.

Any attempt to exterminate him almost surely will have to be of the slow, throttling kind since a direct U.S. invasion of Cuba is unthinkable without worse provocation by Castro.

Slow throttling will take some doing so long as Castro gets Russian help, even if the six Latin American presidents agree on a method of doing it.

If the danger from Castro as a buccaneer can be ruled out for the time being, he is a menace in other directions, symbolically and actually:

1. So long as he survives he is a symbol of Communist success in at least one Latin American country, and therefore an encouragement to Communists among his neighbors.

2. He is a kind of president of a Communist college in the Western world, turning out ambitious students all the time.

Under Castro, Cuba is a training ground for men from other Latin American countries in Communist ideology, agitation, revolutionary leadership, and guerrilla fighting, all of which can be put to use when they return home.

Over the weekend Castro said the guerrillas fighting the government of President Romulo Betancourt in Venezuela are unstoppable. He sounded like the dean of men giving his bright students a straight A average.

Whether he had anything to do with training them is not publicly known.

At the root of all the anti-Castroism in the Costa Rican conference will be the problem far more basic than Castro: how the six countries can have better economic progress.

Together, the six are about the size of France. All except Panama have created for themselves a common market with duty-free trade across their frontiers.

They set this up two years ago and later established a Central American bank for economic integration.

Sen. Humbert Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat who recently visited the area as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Sunday made a report which said in part:

The growth of this banking and integration movement "is one of the most hopeful developments I found" in Latin America. How to make it better will be a main consideration of the seven presidents' meeting.

Wall Attachments Simple Once You Get Hang of Them

There comes a time when you or your wife will want to hang a picture or mirror on those unmarred walls in your home. It may be that the house is new. Or, in an older dwelling, you may have just painted or papered the walls. In either event, it's understandable if you hesitate to pound holes in those otherwise perfect surfaces.

Picture hanging, when done with care and thought, can be done with a minimum of permanent damage.

Simple to Hang

Simplest hanging devices are adhesive hooks, metal hooks backed with a cloth adhesive that becomes sticky when soaked in water. The adhesive should dry on the wall in about 20 minutes. It can be removed by soaking again. Hooks are available in a variety of sizes for varying weight. Use them for relatively light objects only; never for mirrors or other breakable items.

For more security, use regular picture hooks, a hook with a brad that goes through it at an angle. Use cellulose tape on the wall to prevent the plaster from cracking. This doesn't always work, and if you are driving a large nail, drill a pilot hole first. The hole needn't be more than a quarter-inch deep or just enough to start the nail.

With heavy hooks and long nails, try to locate the wall stud and drive the nail into that.

Heavy Duty

Extremely heavy items—large mirrors and shelves—should be hung with a wall anchor or toggle bolt, particularly on thin walls. Drill a hole first. The wall anchor opens behind the wall as the bolt is tightened. Toggle bolts have collapsible wings that fold and then open behind the wall.

Hangers for the backs of pictures are generally fastened to the frame with screws. The hole in the tiny metal plate slips over the wall hook.

For sizable items use wire. Fasten the ends to tiny screw eyes on each side of the frame behind the picture. Since there will be a certain amount of slack in the wire, determine where it will meet the wall hook before installing the hook. Mark the wall where you want the top of the frame to come. Then measure the distance from the wire—pulling it tight first—to the top of the frame. Measure down this same distance from the mark on the wall and place the hook there.

Go Straight

Don't trust your eye to get the picture straight. Use a plumb bob along one edge of the picture. You can improvise one with a string and a small object of moderate weight. A small mark or two on the wall at the bottom of the picture will help you get the right position again if you take down the picture.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: We used hardboard for finishing an attic room several months ago. We put no finish on it, desiring to keep it in its natural brownish color.

But due to a change in the color combinations in the room, we now wish to paint it. Is there any special technique for painting it?

ANSWER: Hardboard possesses many of the characteristics of natural wood and, in general, the usual practices in painting natural wood are applicable to hardboard.

It is best to use a sealer to prevent absorption of the top coat. The sealer can be shellac, most latex paints, enamel undercoaters, varnish or alkyd-base primers, and any of the various special sealers. Be sure all dirt and grease are removed from the hardboard before applying the sealer, especially since the material was installed some time ago.

The top coat is a matter of choice, but the usual practice is to use flat paints for walls and ceilings, and semi-gloss or gloss enamel for surface where higher resistance to abrasion, washing or moisture penetration is required.

One more point: if there are nailheads showing, they should be covered with an anticorrosive primer. If brads were used, drive them a little below the surface and cover them with putty. Smooth the putty and then seal and paint in the regular way.

QUESTION: We have to put up some kitchen cabinets soon. The walls are plaster. I planned on using long screws, through the backs of the cabinets into the plaster and then into the studs.

I have been told that it is necessary to place some kind of heavy wooden board on the wall first, then hang the cabinets on the board, but the party who gave me the information wasn't sure why. It seems like extra work to put up the board first, then the cabinet. What is your advice?

ANSWER: You can attach the cabinet directly to the studs, without a board, but in most cases you'll find it a lot more work. First of all, it's not easy to hold a cabinet in place while at the same time driving screws directly into the studs, even if you have help.

Secondly, doing it this way forces you to place the screws through the back of the cabinet at the exact points where the studs are located, not where you want the screws to be. On the other hand, attaching a board to the wall by driving screws into the studs is a comparatively simple matter.

Once the board is up, you can drive screws through the back of the cabinet into the board, placing the screws wherever you want without trying to line them up with the studs.

Check Calk

You probably calked your house last fall in preparation for winter. Check all calking again and renew it where needed.

When it gets warm enough so that you don't need the furnace, clean it or have it cleaned. If the chimney hasn't been cleaned in several seasons, better tend to that, too.

It won't be long before storm windows come down and screens go up. Make sure that your screens are cleaned, painted and repaired if needed.

When you do take down the storms, make sure they are numbered so that you can get them back in the same frames again. Paint them if necessary and put them away clean. Keep them covered so they stay clean.

Get your power mower out of storage. The tank should have been emptied last fall so you will need fresh fuel. If it doesn't start, have it repaired before the grass begins to grow.

Kitchen Bar Counter Helps To Eliminate Traffic Problem

It's a real tough job to prepare a meal when there's a continual parade of children through the kitchen after a drink of water or a bottle of pop. And it's even harder to put those finishing touches on a company dinner when you have to compete for the sink with your husband, who's concocting drinks for the guests.

You can eliminate that traffic problem by building a special refreshment bar counter in the kitchen. It should be located close to the refrigerator, but a way from the range and sink.

The bar counter could even be designed as a divider between kitchen and family room, with sliding or folding doors on the family room side that open up to make serving easier and close when the installation is not in use.

The bar divider needs several features to make it work efficiently. Most important, it should have a small sink built in so that the cook doesn't need to share her sink. Adequate counter space on either side of the sink is another prime requisite.

In addition, there should be plenty of cupboard space. Some cupboards will be used for the supply of bottled goods—hard and soft—and for the empties. Other cupboards should be designed for glassware. Coasters, ash trays and paper napkins also go into the cupboards. A pair of drawers will keep the needed spoons, the paring knife, jiggers, swizzle sticks and so forth.

Aside from the needed plumbing, the bar divider would be easy to build by a skilled home handyman. Cabinetwork is pretty standard and can be tailored from a finely grained prestige wood like Douglas fir. Fir has a rich golden beige color which responds beautifully to clear finishes—washable plastic lacquer recommended for this use. Or fir takes a paint finish equally well.

Once installed, the bar divider will prove its worth in other ways, too. For example, it would be a perfect salad preparation center, and just right for flower arranging. Opened up to the family room, the bar divider can also become a handy buffet counter for informal company meals or pick-up snacks.

We Know the Pattern Well

There is one school of thought about the great ideological conflict that says similarities are more important than disparities.

Some of its far-ranging pupils are speaking of the possibility (they think of it as a probability, really) that the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics will tend to copy each other as the inevitable consequence of their intense rivalry.

They go to the extreme of speculating that this inclination to copy—the same inclination that prompts competing units in business to become more and more alike—finally may carry the United States leftward and the Soviet Union rightward.

But this is speculative. Meanwhile, the Russians are doing something they must have copied from us. The pattern is familiar. We know it well.

WHEN THEY have trouble, they set up a new commission on top of an old one, with more important names and new and expanded directives.

The first national administration to use the commission system of sidestepping tough problems was Herbert Hoover's. President Hoover appointed commissions to study public problems, as has every administration since his. For example, there was the Wick-ersham Commission, which came up with the wrong answer to the bootlegging problem during the waning days of prohibition, but it was the official answer at the moment Mr. Hoover got stuck with it.

Franklin D. Roosevelt specialized in a layer-on-layer method of easing executive commissions out of existence. Whenever one executive commission bogged down he built another on top of it, naming more important people and bestowing wider authority, whereupon the old commission weakened and died.

IT IS NOT surprising, therefore, that Russians now are being assured that a new Supreme National Economic Council headed by Premier Khrushchev will do everything that hasn't been done by all its predecessors which have coped with agricultural ills and industrial stagnation.

This is the way it is done by bureaucratic government. This endless grouping and re-grouping is part of the pattern.

It is useful for concealing the fact that something is basically wrong.

It gives the bureaucrats protective cover and coloration while they wrack their brains for new gimmicks.

Now that we know the Russians are as addicted to it as we are, we'll give longer odds than ever they'll not bury us. It's a poor way to run a government.

Not Quite That Simple

We are at a loss to explain why Associated Press went through the process of rediscovering the information about the Bessemer-Kelly squabble. All of it has been told before—and it isn't as simple as an AP account filed from Kuttawa, Ky.

This account says Kentucky's William Kelly stumbled on what ultimately was known as the Bessemer converter when his iron furnace overheated and he learned about the air-boiling method of converting pig and cast iron into steel.

Two English helpers, says the account, made their way home and subsequently Sir Henry Bessemer of England was granted, first an English, then a U.S. patent on Kelly's idea. The implication is that the Bessemer converted was Kelly's idea, unjustly credited to Bessemer. In "The Making, Shaping and Treating of Steel," published by U.S. Steel Corp., this version is given:

The Kelly discovery and the Bessemer discovery were concurrent. The Bessemer patent was issued in 1856. When Kelly proved he had worked on the idea as early as 1847, both men shared the patent credit, but the Bessemer invention was developed more aggressively and successfully than the Kelly invention, thus making it the one that became familiar to steel producers here and in England.

Both men held rights to the process in the United States.

As with most processes that evolve out of necessity for finding a better way to do something that many people are trying to do, both Kelly and Bessemer were thinking about the same thing at the same time.

It never was proved that Bessemer had any help from Kelly's two English "helpers." Even if he had help, this would have had no bearing on his application for patents, first in England, later in the United States.

Youngstown's Crime

Youngstown continues to complain loudly about the unfavorable publicity the Mahoning County city received recently when an article in a national magazine discussed the seed bed of crime that has produced a series of gangland bombings and murders.

The good people of Youngstown have a right to complain, but not because the magazine article uncovered something unknown to them. It has been common knowledge for a number of years that racketeers and hoodlums were firmly entrenched in the city. All the magazine story did was to hang the linen on a longer line, coast to coast, perhaps.

This spotlight of unfavorable publicity, however, ought to serve as a challenge to indignant Youngstowners to clean up the mess. It can't happen overnight, but respectable citizens and civic organizations may be amazed at what they can accomplish if they will dedicate themselves to the task at hand.

No city can survive if such a malignancy is left untreated.

Our Girl Scouts

One of the largest Girl Scout organizations in eastern Ohio is to be found right here in Salem.

This week they and their dedicated leaders are observing the 51st anniversary of the Girl Scout movement, an occasion for this newspaper, on behalf of all the people, to wish them a happy birthday.

The Salem Girl Scout Council has its own camp site, donated originally by the Rotary club, and the year-round program and close supervision of many adult leaders is an important part of the girls' rewarding advancement into womanhood.

Rough Streets

With the snow gone (we hope), it hasn't taken much heavy traffic to kick loose patches of asphalt pavement here and there about town.

Some newly-discovered chuck holes which had been covered with snow for months are a real hazard to motorists, a strain on their dispositions and a threat to automobile tires and axles.

The real woes belong to the city service department whose crews have been trying hurriedly to fill as many holes as possible with the asphaltic "cold mix." They're doing a good job and the motoring Salem public appreciates it.

Down the Hatch

By Truman Twill

Everybody keeps shaking his head about the way automated Frankenstein's are gobbling up jobs and muttering, "And these machines have no buying power, remember."

This makes it a straightforward proposition. With 6 per cent of the U.S. working force already at liberty and unemployment growing larger all the time, who is going to take up the slack in the purchase of consumer goods?

With millions buying only what little they afford out of their unemployment compensation and relief allotments, the prospect of still more automation and unemployment gives a sales manager the fantods. Surpluses will pile up faster than they can be given away under the foreign aid program.

But is not the solution to this worrisome problem in plain sight?

We need to make the automated machines consume goods faster than the men and women they displaced. If a new gadget takes the place of 100 human consumers, the gadget should take up the slack by becoming a consumer goods consumer itself.

This will keep unemployment from multiplying the way it did a third of a century ago when nobody wanted anything from anybody anymore so everybody had to quit working at the same time.

A little boy in the balcony asks how you turn Blinky the electronic Frankenstein into a consumer. It is a fair question, sonny. With an easy answer.

There is this little trap door on Blinky's posterior, see. Inside it is a garbage grinder and incinerator combined.

Each day the equivalent of everything not being consumed by the people Blinky displayed is dumped through the little trap door and consumed as truly as if real men and women had consumed it.

Automobiles, boats, furniture, clothing, groceries and strong drink will go through the trap door. Consumption will be complete. No odds and ends will be left, which will make this kind of consumption more efficient than the old-fashioned kind.

Automated consumption will match automated production!

Down the hatch and away we go!

There will be none of the whimsy that can make millions of people consumers decide not to buy and throw production into a tailspin.

Neither will there be any of the frenzied buying that stirs up purchasing cyclones and spirals of wild inflation. Automated consumers will be steady and reliable. They will consume what it is necessary for them to consume, or else.

If there is a glut of butter, they will consume more butter. Or potatoes. Or cotton. Or left-over automobiles. They will put the last touch on automation. Automated production, mechanical vending and automated consuming.

Who will pay for all this? Who but the dear people, who ultimately pay for everything? Yes, but by that time all the people will have been replaced by machines, won't they?

Exactly. But the people will own the machines, see? If they are wealthy, they will own many machines. If poor, they will own only a share of one machine. You see, if the people didn't own the machines, that would be either socialism, or oligarchism, and no one wants either of them in the good old U.S.A.

What we want is affluent living.

Soviet Subversion In Latin America Is Real Threat

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In September, in a number of published articles, this commentator pointed out that the greatest danger in the Communist nest in Cuba was its use as a launching pad for subversion throughout Latin America.

Those comments of mine were not due to super-intelligence or original research. They seemed then to be self-evident in the light of the long history of Communist conquests throughout the world.

This sort of conquest has been the Communist procedure ever since Lenin and Trotsky wandered over Europe, before they were spirited into Russia by sealed train and then captured the Russian moderate revolution.

Eastern Europe and Asia, except for a fluttering fringe, have been taken that way. Also, some of Africa and finally Cuba were encompassed, not by traditional military operations but by covert infection.

THE AMAZING fact seems to be that the high command in Washington seems to have been unaware of or indifferent to this patent fact.

For one skilled fanatic dropped into a Latin-American country is more dangerous to our ultimate security than all the missiles that Khrushchev says he has recalled to Russia.

On Feb. 6 the secretary of defense made this naive statement: "I have no evidence that Cuba is being used as a base of subversion directed against Latin-American countries. It is a matter of constant interest to us and one that we are monitoring continuously."

Two weeks later, one source that one would believe to be available to the President and Secretary McNamara flatly contradicted that statement. John A. McCone told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that Castro was "spurring and supporting the efforts of Communists and other revolutionary elements to overthrow and seize control of the governments of Latin America."

Specifically, he added that "some guerrilla forces in Peru are equipped with Czech weapons which most probably came from Cuba."

McCone also mentioned that the Cuban source of trouble was "far more sophisticated, more covert and more deadly. It showed . . . guidance and training by experienced Communist advisers from the Communist bloc, including several veteran Spanish Communists."

Readers of history around the White House demonstrate serious gaps in their understanding of military affairs and of Communism.

Perhaps they never read Napoleon's remark, "One spy in the right place is worth 20,000 men in the field."

This statement and truth have been most badly exploited and refined by modern states, particularly the U.S.S.R. with its International and Cominform and, today, with its multitude of activities abroad.

Subversives and sabotage agents long ago took their place of importance alongside the ancient professional spy. The Soviet-run school for hundreds of South, Central, and North Americans capable of producing finished agents for penetration, subversion, and revolution on this hemisphere comes as no surprise.

These schools have been an offensive arm of Communism for more than 40 years. The Communist University in Leningrad had thousands of foreign students in the winter of 1925-26 for example. There, study of the aspects of class war and revolutionary theories were handled alongside study of actual experiences.

Party, secret police, and Red Army instructors analyzed armed uprisings, strikes, civil wars and all manner of espionage, subversion and sabotage, pointing out mistakes of strategy and tactics and preparing students for violent and covert activities abroad.

RED ARMY officers lectured on the methods of street fighting. Propaganda and police methods, languages and dialects, use of explosives and weapons, penetration into legal organizations, and other techniques were thoroughly taught.

Name the countries which have fallen to the Soviet Union and Communism over the years and you will find that leaders in their take-overs, revolutions, and subsequent governments attended these Soviet schools.

As this is written, the Kennedy administration has proved hopeless as a body capable of handling Cuba's challenge of exporting Communism, subversion, revolution and espionage to the Americas.

The sort of blockade which President Kennedy mentioned in his press conference is not necessary to stop this drive into Latin America. Cuba already has the potential. It has been shipped in for a very long time.

The problem is to see that it is not exported. To prevent that, we have a great navy and a cor-don could be drawn around Cuba which would effectively assure that what is in Cuba should stay in Cuba.

Cuba itself can be dealt with later. But if its export of terrorists is not prevented, it will be of no avail to clean out the nest.

Is poison will be in a score of other nations, working to create situations in which the Soviet can directly extend help.

Facing Up to Facts

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON

It must have been either an exercise in plain guts or good sense, or both, that has led the National Association of Broadcasters to extend its contract with former Governor LeRoy Collins of Florida to serve another term as its president.

The plain-talking NAB head told the broadcasters when he first took on their job two years ago that he had no intention of paddling NAB's bat gently. Until last November his frankness and candor had brought only occasional grumbling, but at that time a genuine furor was created by a speech in Portland, Ore.

ON THAT OCCASION Mr. Collins recommended that cigarette commercials be revised to avoid any encouragement of smoking by youngsters.

It was his opinion that broadcasters should take corrective measures concerning such commercials, making them subject to revisions that could be incorporated in NAB's Code of Good Practices. Collins thus laid his $75,000-a-year job on the block, and angry advertising and broadcasting executives were not slow to indicate that his contract was in jeopardy. The networks promptly released statements that they did not share the Collins viewpoint.

THIS IS WHAT he had said: "If we are to be honest with ourselves, we cannot ignore the mounting evidence that tobacco provides a serious hazard to health."

"Can we either in good conscience ignore the fact that progressively more and more of our high-schoolage (and lower children are now becoming habitual cigarette smokers?"

The most recent statistics I have seen point out that 20 per cent of boys have started smoking in the ninth grade, and almost 30 per cent of all girls smoke before they are graduated from high school.

"We also know that this condition is being made continually worse under the promotional impact of advertising designed primarily to influence young people."

HIS REMARKS HIT the industry with unusual force because of the importance of tobacco advertising as revenue in the broadcasting business. Of $215 million spent annually by the tobacco industry in all measured media, TV gets nearly half, or $104 million. Radio gets $30 million. Broadcasting thus earns $134 million from tobacco advertising, and figures for the year just ended are expected to be even higher.

And now they have renewed his contract! Let us hope that they have seen fit to take this action without applying any sort of muzzle.

Mr. Collins was particularly concerned with broadcasting's moral responsibility, even though he recognized that this rests first on the tobacco manufacturer, on the advertising agencies, and on "outstanding sports figures who permit their hero status to be prostituted."

He urged revisions that would make NAB codes more than "legalistic standards and delimitations of good taste," so that they would serve also as a "conscience" for the broadcasters.

"Where others have persistently failed to subordinate their profit motives to the higher purpose of the general good health of our young people then I think the broadcaster should make corrective moves on his own."

This we could do under code amendments, and I feel we should proceed to do so, not because we are required to, but because a sense of moral responsibility demands it." Mr. Collins said in November.

THIS IS A SUPERLATIVE brand of thinking that deserves the greatest support within the communications industry.

Tobacco advertising during the ten years since the lung cancer relationship was first suggested has built up sales in the industry to some $8 billion a year, with and without filters.

Before the end of 1962 the U.S. Department of Agriculture was predicting that output would reach a new high of 539 billion cigarettes, 11 billion more than in 1961, a gain of 2 per cent. Apparently, despite the American Cancer Society's educational program, which includes a real "chiller" for teenagers called "Is SMOKING Worth It?" more smoking is being done than ever before.

The industry attitude, expressed by an official of the Tobacco Institute, is that "none of us in the tobacco industry believe there is an association between smoking and lung cancer or we would not be in the business."

The industry may need to find other products to manufacture, for the American Cancer Society says it has "sound evidence that cigarette smoking is one of the major causes of the increases in lung cancer over the past 30 years and can also be related to other diseases of the lungs and of the heart."

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a shoe salesman and I'm having trouble with my women customers. This is not a business problem but a human relations problem.

Wouldn't you think a person would be more interested in wearing a shoe that fits properly than anything else? Well, this isn't the way an awful lot of women figure it. I see customers all day long who would rather jam their size 8B's into a 7A (and suffer) than buy the right size.

Some women get insulted if I tell them their feet have gotten bigger with age. They suddenly find all sorts of things wrong with the shoe, especially if a friend happens to be along. I've lost many sales because I tried to be honest.

I'd like your advice. Should I fit these women properly and tell them the truth? Or shall I sell them size instead of fit and let them limp out?—HONEST ABE.

Dear Abe: Psychology always has been an important part of selling.

The ladies' garment industry wised up a long time ago. The better dresses are "cut more generously." Translate into English, this means if milady buys the dress off the rack she'd better reach for the 16. If she buys a better dress she easily can get into a size 14. This is great for the customer's morale and it's nice for the retailer, too.

If the shoe manufacturers would take a cue from the manufacturers of the better dresses there would be less demand for bunion and corn plaster — and your job would be a lot easier.. Abe.

For Single Standard

Dear Ann — When are girls going to get smart and demand the same standard of virtue that the boys demand of them?

The guy who wants to play around with tramps while he's dating and then expects a good girl when he's "ready for something important like marriage" ought to be sent to the bargain basement right along with the girls he talked to put there.

I've been talking this way for a long time, Ann. When I was in high school girls told me I'd never find a boy with standards that high. But I found him, and I married him, and I'll wager he is — mainly — those creeps who had so much "proving" to do before marriage.

I'm sure I didn't get the only guy in the world. There must be others left. Happy hunting, Girls. —MRS. LUCKY.

Dear Lucky: Not all boys demand white-flower girls for marriage but I agree that those who do should have an unsullied record themselves.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Tournament Complaint

At Thursday's Salem - Warren tournament game, we fans were once more treated to the "thoughtfulness" of the Youngstown tourney director.

We had to stand out in the cold for an hour or more and then when we did get inside to obtain a chair seat, we found them reserved for coaches of teams no longer in the tournament.

When I come back from the Navy, where I'll be for the next two years, I hope the situation will be changed for the better.

Cites County Road Hazard

We are writing this letter to point out a dangerous condition that exists on Woodsdale and Depot Roads, and the junction of these two roads.

I wrote to the Columbiana County commissioners in January to see if we could not set the gears in motion to bring about a proper and adequate warning system at this location but there has been no word from their office regarding same. A second letter went registered mail.

The purpose of the sending of these letters registered return receipt was to notify the Commissioners that if, and God forbid it should be the case, an accident which should result in the possible loss of life and/or limb of the students traveling these roads, we would like to make it clear that the liability is clearly placed on the shoulders of these gentlemen, who have had ample time and opportunity to move sufficiently and remove this hazard of our highways.

No one likes to be goaded into doing anything. However, no one likes to see the wasteful loss of human life, simply because action, when requested, was not taken.

I can remember of a happening in northern Ohio where some seven school children were killed at a railroad crossing that did not have proper marking or stop procedures. It did not take long after this loss of life for the proper political channels to correct the condition that existed.

This matter, of course, will be referred to the Columbiana County Safety Committee at the regular meeting and has already been discussed with the governor's representative on safety, Charles Burns and Charles Reem.

We have requested that the commissioners give whatever assistance is needed in the acquiring of stop signs approaching the entrance from beyond the top of the hill and approaching the hill. All flashers that will slow traffic down and a sign indicating stop sign ahead for the traffic moving both ways on Depot Road.

Why are some children left-handed and other right-handed?

This question has puzzled mankind for generations, and no one is quite sure of the answer. Around the turn of the century it was believed that if children showed left-handed tendencies they should be first warned and then punished. This attitude may have been a carry-over from the left-handed bar in heraldry which signified illegitimate birth.

Later, the idea that handedness was an inborn characteristic began to grow. Forcefully changing the natural development of a child in this regard was thought to cause stuttering, difficulty in disturbances.

Careful studies seem to have exploded this theory. They have attributed the stuttering not so much to efforts to alter left-handedness, as to the harsh manner in which the efforts were made.

IF YOU ATTEMPT to change the left-handedness of a child between the ages of 1½ and 3 years, the child's resistance may be a part of the negativism that is a trying but very necessary part of his natural development.

The latest theory to be propounded is that left-handed children are those belonging to the minority whose heads rotated to the right as they passed through the birth canal. This may be a factor or heredity may play a part, but no one has yet come up with conclusive proof.

One confusing aspect of the matter is that an appreciable number of boys who are right-handed naturally kick a football with the left foot, and lead off with the left when skating. Whether they started out to be left-handed and were trained out of it is not known, because other mixed dominances have been observed — better vision in the left eye but better hearing in the right ear.

DOMINANCE OF one hand or the other appears to be desirable, because careful observation of a large number of children has indicated that those who show no preference for one hand have generally poor muscular co-ordination. If the young adult wants to practice ambidexterity he may find it useful to do so, but equal skill with both hands in all fields is rarely, if ever, achieved.

As things now stand, the best policy would seem to be to try very gently to get a child to use his right hand, but not to make a major issue of it.

If he persists in being left-handed, be thankful that he will find many others like himself. His left-handedness will not be as great a handicap for him as it was a couple of generations ago.

Q — OUR 16-MONTH-OLD can pull herself up and walk around a chair or table, but will not walk by herself. She is normal in every other way. What can we do to help her?

A—There is such a wide variation in the age at which a normal baby will walk alone that the wisest rule is this: The age at which a baby should begin to walk is when he or she is ready.

The fact that your daughter can propel herself around a chair indicates normal development. Those children who start walking at 11 months won't walk any better at age 3 than your daughter will.

Unlikely Trio Sparkles On Dinah Shore Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Sullivan had the McGuire sisters singing "Danny Boy," Sunday night, but the trio of the evening was the unlikely combination of opera's Joan Sutherland, blues singer Dinah Shore and jazz vocalist Ella Fitzgerald doing "Three Little Maids From School" and "Lover Come Back to Me."

Dinah's NBC tour was tuneful and stimulating and in spite of the differences in voice, style and approach to music, the three women were great together. It is a matter of regret that my television set proved inadequate for Miss Sutherland's high notes.

The color of television over the weekend was, naturally, a bright shade of green. Even NBC's Sunday afternoon golf show was filmed on a sea-and-wind-swept links of auld sod. Seen in color, this was perhaps the most handsome program of the weekend to a winter-weary viewer.

CBS-Radio will broadcast its 1,000th performance by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra on March 23. Since Oct. 5, 1930, it has presented the works of 315 composers, 414 soloists and 72 conductors.

Betty White, a veteran gamester, and Barry Sullivan will kick off NBC's "You Don't Say" on April 1, when the new daytime show starts.

Lucille Ball's daughter, Lucie, 11, has a return engagement on "The Lucy Show" April 8.

Ginger Rogers will guest-star with Red Skelton April 2, in a short history of ballroom dancing, from the minuet to the bossa nova.

Recommended tonight: "Arthur Godfrey Loves Animals," CBS, 8:30-9:30 (EST)—the star's second special of the season, an inspection of his non-human friends.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: Three years ago I actually dreamed of an idea which has put my husband's worn stretch socks to good use. They make wonderful "slip covers" for coat hangers.

Just snip a hole in the heel (is there's not one there already!) and slip the coat hanger in.

wput the hook of the hanger through the hole in the eel. Then pull it tight and fold over the ends and fasten. I use a stapler but a sock can be pinned or basted. They are easily removed for washing when desired.

I use these slipcovered coat hangers for wash-and-wear clothing and have never had rust get on clothing from the hangers. In the closet they are marvelous for garments made of slippery material which usually slide off the hangers. Sun dresses and blouses lay on my hangers too.

All garments really cling to them!

CARLA ENRIGHT.

DEAR HELOISE: Let them razz you about your use of vinegar all they like. I love it too! (Thanks . . . Heloise)

I thought maybe some of your readers might be interested in an inexpensive way to save work and improve the home decor at the same time.

Tablecloths for the breakfast table were an extra chore to launder. Plastic ones never lasted long enough and that became expensive. So . . . I purchased some adhesive-backed plastic in a maple wood grained pattern.

I used it to cover my table and—Heloise, it's the truth—my friends and even my husband, thought I had refinished the top of the table.

A damp cloth is all it takes now to be clean and pretty. Be sure the surface of the table is cleaned and smooth; sand it if necessary before laying the plastic on the table. Smooth it out carefully and press it tight, being sure that there are no loose edges. Good luck!

Missiles

Shamma said prison guards, who became her friends during 29 months confinement, told her the missiles are being test-fired in a horizontal shaft leading from the quarry.

The stocky, gray-haired Mrs. Shamma said she was instructed not to divulge any information because it might prejudice the Cuban regime against the remaining Cuban prisoners.

But she said: "I hope they don't think I'm going to sugar coat all this treatment we've had. It was awful. We were freed for nothing. If I thought they had paid any ransom for me, I wouldn't have come back."

The other woman, Martha O'Neal, whose parents live in Orlando, Fla., wouldn't talk about the missiles. However, at one point she said, "I heard them so often that I became used to them and didn't even notice the noise."

They said they had been charged with counterrevolutionary activity and sentenced to 10 years. Neither would be specific about the charges. Mrs. O'Neal said she was arrested Dec. 15, 1960 at a friend's house.

Shamma said she was arrested Nov. 4, 1960 at her home.

budget message, the 11th legislative week opening tonight looks like a dull one. Committees of the two houses will hear testimony on about 165 bills, very few of major caliber.

No major floor actions are in prospect for the week. Normally, it takes the House Finance Committee six to eight weeks to winnow through an executive budget and the Senate Finance Committee another four or five weeks.

Senate passage of the budget bill, then, about 12 weeks hence, could signal the beginning of the end for the regular session of the 105th General Assembly. Prospects for final adjournment by mid-June look bright.

Board To Act On School Funds

The proposed 1963 appropriation of $1,446,359.49 presented earlier this year to the Salem Board of Education will be acted upon tonight at the board's regular monthly meeting.

Officials and board members have been waiting many weeks for word from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare concerning the terms under which the old Post Office may be acquired for school purposes.

In other action the board is expected to make some personnel changes and establish a fee structure which would permit a charge to be placed on workbooks.

Cincinnati Nears Goal, Battles Oregon State Friday

Duke, Loyola In Semifinals

Villanova Upsets Wichita In NIT

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ Associated Press Sports Writer Cincinnati, Duke and Chicago Loyola—the nation's three top-ranked basketball teams—along with unheralded Oregon State swing into the final round of the national collegiate championship this week after surviving the regional tournaments.

Cincinnati, No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll, will be aiming for an unprecedented third straight NCAA title. The Bearcats face upstart Oregon State in the semifinals Friday night at Louisville, Ky.

Second-ranked Duke clashes with Chicago Loyola, No. 3 nationally, in the other semifinal match. The winners meet in the championship game Saturday night after the losers play for consolation honors.

Cincinnati won the Midwest regional at Lawrence, Kan., Saturday night with a 67-60 victory over Colorado. Oregon State stumped fourth-ranked Arizona State 83-65 in the Far West regional final at Provo, Utah.

Duke extended its winning streak to 20 in turning back St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 73-59 in the Eastern Regional title game at College Park, Md. Chicago Loyola was impressive in capturing the Midwest Regional at E Lansing, Mich., with a 79-64 triumph over Illinois.

The National Invitational Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden continues its quarter-final round Tuesday night with six teams remaining in the field.

The big upset occurred in a quarter-final game Saturday night when top-seeded Wichita, ranked fifth in the AP poll, bowed to Villanova 54-53. The Wheatshockers had achieved national prominence last month by shattering Cincinnati's 37-game victory string.

Villanova advanced to the semifinals Thursday night along with Canisius, which eliminated Memphis State 76-67 in the other quarter-final game last Saturday evening.

St. Louis Nips La Salle St. Louis and Miami of Florida gained quarter-final berths, winning a first-round doubleheader Saturday afternoon. The Billikens nipped LaSalle 62-61 and the Hurricanes squeezed past St. Francis of New York, 71-70.

In the other quarter-final round Tuesday night, St. Louis encounters Marquette while Miami is paired with Providence. Marquette and Providence are seeded and received first-round byes. The winners meet in the other semifinal test Thursday.

The finals will be held Saturday afternoon, preceded by a consolation game for third place.

The NAIA small college championship at Kansas City ended last Saturday night with Pan American of Texas winning the crown. Pan American defeated Western Carolina 73-62 in the final after outgunning top-seeded Grambling in the semifinals Friday. Grambling gained consolation laurels with a 107-86 lacing of Fort Hayes State.

West Virginia Rumps 53-73

In NCAA regional consolation games for third place last Saturday, West Virginia bowled over New York University 83-73 in the Eastern Regionals; Mississippi State topped Bowling Green 65-60 in the Midwest Regionals; Texas polished off Oklahoma City 90-83 in the Midwest Regionals and San Francisco shaded UCLA 76-75 in the Far West Regionals.

Salem Softball Meeting Is Set Tuesday Night

The Salem Softball Association will hold an organization meeting at the Memorial Building Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Managers or sponsors interested in entering a team in one of the three leagues this season are urged to attend.

There is no age limit for anyone who wants to participate in the Class "A" or "AA" divisions. The Slow Pitch loop is for anyone over 27 years of age, unless all players work for the organization sponsoring the squad. Then the starting age is 21.

Rules for all three leagues will be discussed Tuesday.

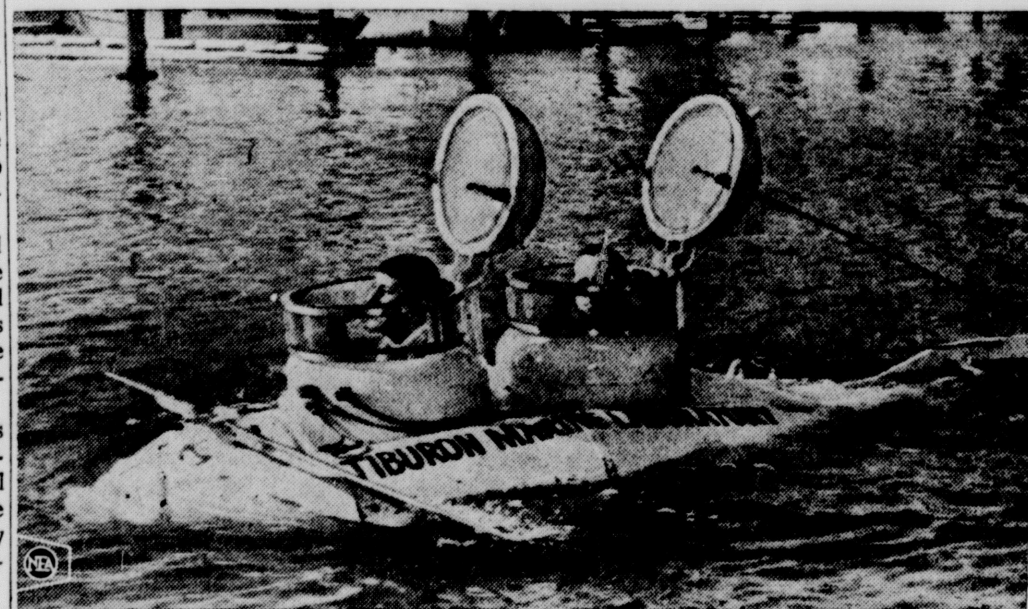

High School boys who would like to compete in the summer softball program should contact Charlie DelVichio or Jim Harrigan.

Davalillo's, Martinez' Hot Bats Lead Indians To Win

By The Associated Press A pair of prize rookies from Latin America who broke in their back-to-back batting act with a minor league champion last season seem certain bets to make baseball's big show.

They are Vic Davalillo, 23-year-old Venezuelan outfielder, and Tony Martinez, 21-year-old shortstop whiz from Cuba. Both are ticketed for regular berths with the Cleveland Indians—and they showed why Sunday.

Battling in the same leadoff and second spots they occupied last year for champion Jacksonville of the International League, Davalillo and Martinez rapped seven hits and scored all Cleveland's runs in a 6-5 exhibition victory over the Chicago Cubs at Tucson, Ariz.

Orioles Edge Dodgers 4-3 Elsewhere on the spring training circuit—Baltimore kept its perfect record going in a 4-3 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers at Miami; Washington had another homer spree, downing Minnesota 8-5 at Pompano Beach, Fla.; Cincinnati bombed the New York Yankees 6-3 at Tampa, Fla.; St. Louis clipped Kansas City 12-11 at Bradenton, Fla.; Boston beat San Francisco 9-6 at El Paso, Tex.; Pittsburgh clouted Milwaukee 7-1 at West Palm Beach, Fla.; the New York Mets edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1 at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Detroit whipped Philadelphia 9-3 at Lakeland, Fla. The Houston Colts and the Los Angeles Angels were rained out at Apache Junction, Ariz.

Davalillo, International League batting champion last season with a .346 average, ripped a triple, double and single against the Cubs. Martinez, tabbed by Cleveland manager Birdie Tebbets as "the Indians' shortstop, period," collected four singles in four trips.

Run String To 8-0

Jackie Brandt's two-run 400-foot homer off Ed Roebuck with none out in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Orioles an 8-0 exhibition record.

The Senators banged out three homers for the third game in a row in beating the Twins. Chuck Hinton, Don Lleppert and Tom Brown, the bonus rookie signed off the Maryland campus less than three weeks ago, connected for Washington.

The Cards overcame the Athletics after trailing 10-0. St. Louis poured across eight runs in the seventh, then won it in the ninth on Carl Sawatski's pinch homer and rookie Jeff Long's run-scoring single with two out.

The Pirates tagged Warren Spahn, Carl Willey and Cecil Butler for 16 hits and dealt Spahn his third straight exhibition setback. Bob Friend and Tom Sturdivant combined to hold the Braves to four hits.

Title Fight Is Off Indefinitely

Liston Will Give Injured Knee Rest, Postpones Bout

By JOE MOOSHIL Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, hiding behind a mysterious grin, begins a week's rest today unconcerned when or where he will meet Floyd Patterson in a return title bout.

Liston broke camp in Miami

Beach, Fla., Sunday and returned to Chicago to give his injured left knee a rest. The maneuver doomed all possibilities of holding the bout in Miami Beach April 10.

"What fight?" asked Liston when questioned by reporters about the apparent postponement. "I'm not mad at anybody. Who wants to fight?"

Hurt Swinging Golf Club

Liston said he would rest a week before even allowing doctors in Chicago to examine the knee which he reportedly injured while swinging a golf club in a pose for a photographer.

The injury caused a postponement from the original April 4 date of the fight, diminishing chances of a financial success at the gate since the tourist season in Miami ends late in March. Liston said by resting the knee "I'm trying to beat an operation. If it's okay after that rest I'll start training again in Chicago. If not, then I might have to have the operation."

What about the fight? "Makes no difference to me where it is held," said Liston. "I'd like to get it over with. Then we wouldn't have any contracts to live up to. The fight won't take any longer than the last time."

Liston won the championship last September in Chicago when he knocked out Patterson in 2 minutes, 6 seconds of the first

Floyd's 274 Wins Open Golf Crown

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Young Raymond Floyd went from rags to riches in 274 strokes of his golf clubs.

In four months on the professional tour, he hadn't won a dollar. And then Sunday, with stroke No. 274—a tiny tap to knock in a ball caught on the lip of the 18th hole—he won 3,500.

The tap gave the 20-year-old from Fayetteville, N.C., a one-stroke victory over Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., in the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open.

He did it like Horatio Alger, with a touch of Arnold Palmer thrown in. Floyd shot a 5-under-par 67 in the first round, bounced to a 71 in the second, and came back Saturday with another 67. Then he added that 69 Sunday.

While Floyd was scrambling along under par, the 29-year-old Marr was losing the three-stroke edge with which he began the round. He appeared to be trying to play safe, and put after putt stopped short. By the end of the front nine, he was already a stroke over par.

Mason Rudolph of Lehigh Acres, Fla., who went into the round with a 208, fired a 4-under-par 68 for a third place total of 276. Tommy Bolt of Palm Desert, Calif., had a 70 to tie Rudolph.

Warren Harding 20-3 Meets Akron South 21-2 Wednesday

Cleveland East Tech Eyes Sixth Trip In Row To State Basketball Finals

By FRITZ HOWELL Associated Press Sports Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech, seeking its sixth straight trip to the state high school basketball tournament, gets the jump on other aspirants in this week's regional tourney play.

The Scarabs of Coach Joe crown in 1958 and 1959, launch the "sweet 16" playoffs Wednesday in Cleveland Arena against Cleveland East.

Tech, rated second in the state, has a 22-0 record to East's 17-5. Ninth-ranked Warren Harding (20-3) goes against 12th ranked Akron South (21-2) in the second half of Wednesday's twinbill, and the victors meet Thursday for the ticket to Columbus.

The remaining 12 Class AA qualifiers and the Class A teams—survivors of a starting field of 916—battle it out later in the week to determine the quartet of state qualifiers in each division.

Hottest competition is expected in the Southwest sector, from which 20 of the previous 40 champions have emerged in Class AA.

Middletown Advances Again Top-ranked Middletown, seven-time state winner, and third-rated Dayton Chaminade, each with a 23-0 record, are among the regionalists there—and only one can advance.

Three unbeaten members of the Top Ten, all regional qualifiers a year ago, were snuffed out in Saturday's district finals. Mansfield St. Peter (5th) lost 64-62 to Marion Harding, Marietta (6th), was a 62-51 victim of Portsmouth's 1961 champions, and Clayton Northmont (8th) was tripped 72-61 by Urbana.

Along with seven members of the Top Ten which qualified, the top three challengers also got in: Marion Harding, Akron South and Urbana—11th, 12th and 13th in the final poll.

Urbana (22-1) and Cincinnati Elder (20-3) round out the Southwest Regional where the four teams have an 88-4 record. The Cleveland Class AA regionalists have an 18-10 mark, Bowling Green-Toledo 69-19, and Canton 75-13 for an overall Class AA record of 312-46. Last year the regionalists carried a 306-50 mark.

The Class A contingent stands at 309-57, a bit off the 326-49 record of a year ago. The Athens Regional is 84-10 for the top mark.

All-Time Great Finishes 13th Season

Cousy Gets Farewell Tribute; Message From JFK Is Read

By BOB HOOBING Associated Press Sports Writer BOSTON (AP)—Bob Cousy sat pale and weary on the trainer's table long after the most thrilling, emotion-draining experience of his 34 years.

"The worst is over now," Cousy said Sunday after the monumental Boston farewell to the all-time great who is ending an unparalleled 13-season National Basketball Association career.

"The playoffs will be nothing." In a moving prelude to retirement, the unshakable athlete, always steadfast in the clutch, was wracked with sobs.

He was not alone. Many a grown man cried.

Few saw the final minutes of a game in which Boston defeated Syracuse 125-116. Celtics coach Red Auerbach, who gave Cousy a tearful hug before a standing room Boston Garden crowd and a regional television audience, reflected in the dressing room: "I've never seen anything like this as a tribute to an athlete."

Cousy admitted he had dreaded the moment of this final game in his last season. "How do you say thank you?" he had asked. For an hour he received accolades, gifts and a message from President Kennedy while he wiped his eyes, wrung his hands, bowed his head, shuffled his feet and waved to the crowd during the many ear-splitting ovations.

President Kennedy's message, read by Auerbach during the pregame ceremonies, said Cousy's "record is an eloquent testimony to your ability as a basketball player. I know you will set the same high standards as coach that you have as a player. It is a pleasure for me to join the sports world in this tribute to you."

Oh, yes, the game. Cousy scored eight points, passing the 1,000 point mark for the fifth consecutive season, and he had nine assists.

'Question 7' Deals With Life Under Communism

"Question 7", a widely-acclaimed movie about life under Communism in East Germany, will play at the State Theatre for four days beginning Wednesday.

The film comes laden with honors. It was named "Best Film of the Year" by the National Board of Review, given the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation Mass Media award as "the Film Best Serving our National Interest" and the Vigilant Patriots Award of the All-American Conference to Combat Communism.

It also has two awards earned at the Berlin Film Festival, a special commendation from the National Council of Churches, a special accolade and A-1 rating of the National Legion of Decency and, in Assisi, Italy, was awarded the Grand Prix of the International Catholic Film Office as the best film produced anywhere in 1961.

Two advance showings of the film already have been held in Salem, for ministers and church laymen and for students in church catechism classes.

"Question 7" tells the story of life in a small East German town as the Communists carry out their program to destroy the religious life of the community.

The title refers to a pivotal questionnaire distributed by state officials to the students in the schools of East Germany. Only those students whose answers show them to be politically reliable are allowed to pursue advanced study toward careers of their own choice. Consequently, the questionnaire becomes a test of each student's conscience, forcing him to choose between answers he knows to be true and others he knows to be nothing more than party line. Prominent European actors play roles in "Question 7." Production of the film was financed by the Lutheran churches of North America. It was shot on location in West Germany within sight of the East Zone guard towers and in Berlin before the Brandenburg gate.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Women not only talk more than men, they also talk faster—about 175 syllables a minute to 150.

The Irish bachelor is notoriously shy about giving up his manly freedom. The result: Only 30 per cent of the population of Ireland is married.

There is one advantage to being a midget in the Soviet Union. You are exempt from taxes.

Ministers who denounce card games might be surprised to know that in 1775, Augustus Toplady of England, while sheltered in a cleft of rock from a sudden storm, composed one of the world's most famous hymns on the back of a playing card—the only paper he had with him. The hymn: "Rock of Ages."

Crew members of transoceanic airplane flights usually eat separately prepared meals before takeoff in order to guard against the possibility of group food poisoning.

"The man who lives by himself and for himself is apt to be corrupted by the company he keeps"—Charles H. Parkhurst.

Here's one reason why the Bible is known as the "Good Book": A new concordance of key biblical words published by the American Bible Society devotes 302 lines to such words as "love" and "kindness," but only 62 lines to "hate."

Bootleg liquor during America's prohibition era was hard on the health as well as the pocketbook. Deaths from acute alcoholism in

New York City rose from 84 in 1920 to 719 in 1927.

The favorite drink of King Frederick the Great of Prussia was coffee brewed with champagne instead of water. He doubled the size of his country, wrote 31 books — and lived to be 74.

There were 1,224 railroads operating in the United States at the turn of the century. Now there are about 400.

Scientists estimate it takes up to 50 million years for heat to get from the core of the sun to its flaming surface.

Manhattan has only one licensed organ grinder left.

Queen Elizabeth II of England likes to use a safety belt when motoring.

The average American stays home from work 2.6 days a year because of injuries.

It was Joel Chandler Harris who observed, "Watch out when you're getting all you want; fattening hogs ain't in luck."

Vindicator Price Now Seven Cents

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Youngstown Vindicator today increased the price of its afternoon paper to 7 cents a copy. The daily paper had sold for 5 cents a copy since 1946. No change was announced in the price of the Sunday edition, which now sells for 15 cents a copy.

The average worker loses about 5½ days a year because of injury or illness.

Former Russian Countess to Give Talk In Alliance

ALLIANCE — The name Tolstoy means a famous Russian writer and philosopher.

It also means his daughter who has become a thorn in the Soviets' side because of her work assisting refugees from Russia and Red-dominated countries.

Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, who served her father, Leo Tolstoy, as secretary and companion until his death in 1910, is this Wednesday's speaker in the Alliance community Lenten series.

She will speak at the 11 a. m. Mount Union College chapel service at the Mount Union Theater and the 7:30 p. m. public service at the First Methodist Church.

The First Presbyterian Church Choir will sing and four Alliance ministers will assist in the evening service.

During the Russian Revolution, she was jailed for protesting against Communist tyranny and later released to teach school.

In 1931 Countess Tolstoy left Russia under pretext of lecturing in Japan and came to the United States.

RECEIVES APPOINTMENT

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover has announced appointment of Philip Le Bouteiller Jr. of Toledo, Ohio, as general chairman of the 57th Boys' Clubs of America Convention. The convention will be in Toledo May 19-23.

Hoover is board chairman of the Boys' Clubs. Le Bouteiller is a former U.S. deputy defense secretary.
